INND will enter into the global MULTI-BILLION dollar virtually untapped emerging market and will create an self-feeding revenue eco-system around INNDs products & services. The eco-system is carefully designed to capture every aspect of the hearing industry, which has the ability to capture a customer from the early stages and retain them during their repurchasing cycle.

The Repurchasing cycle could be on average every 2 to 3 years and could last more than 30 years depending on age of customer. The company's products have the same technology as professionally fitted hearing devices at 1/5 of the cost, and without the need of seeing a professional for fittings.
